

Do you ever take the time to think about the things that we all do?
All these institutions and traditions, it seems that they're controlling you
Well we must ask some questions
We must search for answers
If we're gonna save the world

Despite all the posturing, aren't we all the same?
Everyone experiences life, we're all living in our brains
Well I'm gonna ask the questions
I'm gonna find the answers
And try to save the world

The revolution has begun
Start thinking for tomorrow
Your evolution has begun
Start thinking for yourself
If you're not a force for good, are you really doing what you should?
Why waste your time with gossip? Why waste your time with lies?
You've gotta learn to let love in, you gotta learn to send love out
You've gotta learn to let love in, you gotta learn to let love out
Ask yourself the question - what is it all about?

The revolution has begun
Start here, start now
The revolution has begun
Start here, start now!

