

I want you to know love is abundant - it's all around you
And I want you to know - not everyone will hurt you, please don't assume it

If only you could see the world through my eyes
If only you could see yourself

I want you to know the possibilities are endless, who knows what tomorrow will bring?

If only you could see the world through my eyes
If only you could see

You can have it for yourself
You don't have to take it from anyone else
You can have it for yourself

I want you to know love is abundant - it's all around you

